SUB STANDARD

3

BP89

SUB STANDARD 3

Explore, examine and marvel at

SUB STANDARD NO.3

The response to the first 2 issues was better than I had expected, I actually got some mail.Though there weren't many letters , the feedback was mostly positive,and no one wrote and said they hated it.Please if you don't like what you see ,write and say so,and say why or what you didn't like.Don't bother if you're going to write something like "this is crap,and you're full of shit",but if you do have criticisms,write to me.Include a return address so I can reply.All letters will be answered. B.M.J.P. June 89

Sub Standard
c/o P.O.box 245
Willoughby N.S.W.
2068

WHY YOU SHOULD WORRY

Ingredients

REGULAR FEATURES

OUR BOYS AND GIRLS IN BLUE p 5

HAPPY FAMILLILIES p 11

FASHION FEATURE p 22

SHIT INTERVIEW p 18

OCCER ALF AND DIGGER DAVE p 10

POP MUSIC p 16

THIS WEEKS SPECIALS

ACTIVITIES PAGE p 17

CORPORATE CITIZENS p 14

OUR WORLD:CLOSING DOWN SALE p 24

BONUS CELEBRITY PIN UP p 13

PINOCHET ALE

After a long day tapping phones, there's nothing more refreshing!

ALSO AVAILABLE
BondBrew INTERROGATION ROOM LIQUIDS

KYLIE
Is she an alien? P13

IS KYLIE AN ALIEN?

Scientist's new shock evidence

Psychic's claim: Michael Jackson was elephant man lives counsellor named Richard Ryal, claimed he knows why Michael Jackson has offered to buy the Elephant Man's remains.

"Michael lived as that freakish unfortunate, John Merrick, in a past life," he declared.

Ryal said he first realised the connection after seeing Jackson's posture on the album cover of Bad: "It is an unconscious mime of Merrick's deformed posture," he added. "Corrective surgery was unavailable to the Elephant Man, so Michael has an unconscious obsession with facial surgery because of his frustration from his former life. Like Michael, the Elephant Man lived in isolation and developed no sexual relationships."

'I know Elvis is still alive'

The King admits his funeral was faked and tells of secret life in Michigan!

ELVIS IS ALIVE!

ARTIST'S CONCEPTION of how Elvis Presley looks today at the age of 53. The King is living a quiet life — far from the millions of adoring fans.

I was Michael Jackson's lover — for a day

Window washer takes a 60-foot death fall trying to spot Michael Jackson

A coroner's inquest ruled that a window washer who fell six floors to his death may have been trying to catch a glimpse of Michael Jackson when he lost his balance.

NEW EVIDENCE Elvis is still alive!

Long live the King! According to author Gail Giorgio, Elvis Presley is alive and well and living in a town called Kalamazoo

Psychic says rock great's spirit is writing songs for a new album and tour

Beyond the grave shocker . . .

JOHN LENNON IS COMING BACK!

Dead rock legend John Lennon is preparing to make an earth-quaking comeback from beyond the grave and go on tour with a sensational album crammed with new songs.

That's the mind-boggling claim of British psychic Billy Thorne, who says the ex-Beatle's spirit has contacted him from the world of gloom and doom.

Human vegetable can say only one word — 'Elvis'

. . . but you must ask: 'Who's the King, Keith?'

Radio rock 'n' roll lulls 11-year-old to her death

Madonna and mate

ONE of Madonna's nutty fans keeps calling her and insisting, "I'm really you. We are the same person."

In the past two months the raunchy singer has changed her unlisted number five times but somehow the crazy lady keeps getting through.

1988
WHATS TO CELEBRATE?

STILL AVAILABLE

Bad Side Effects
Black and Blue
De Control
Ice Nine
K.G.B. Stooges
'Snoyd Int.
Splatterheads
Stigmata Party

Cassette and booklet
$6:50 postage paid
$7:00 outside N.S.W.

c/o Sub Standard

also available through the bands for $5:50

Also still available in the Bond overkill range of merchandise, this T shirt design

For rape of the environment and countless crimes against humanity

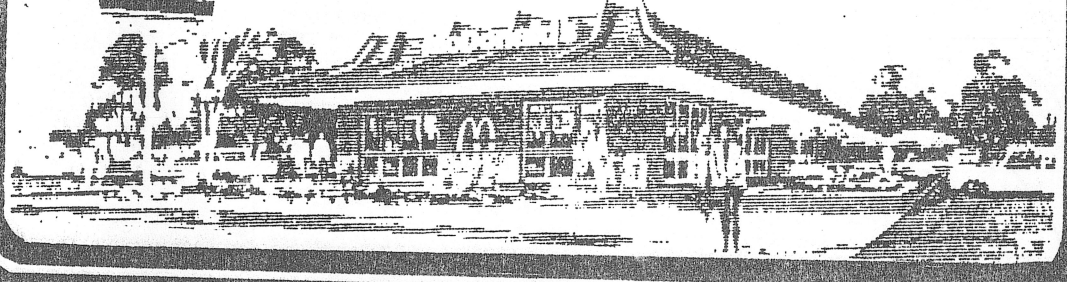
WARNING!
Dont even think

BECOME A McDONALD'S MANAGER

We are looking for people with determination, strength and greed to run a business that candestroy up to 50 acres of rainforest per minute and kill billjons of cattle a year.

The challenges and opportunities you'll enjoy include economic empirialism in third world countries (thus starving the populations) training in every aspect of our ruthless profiteering from Trainee Manager to middle management based on immorality , greed and more.

If you have experience with killing people, animals and destroying the environment , contact McDonald's on 875 6666, 21-29 Central Avenue, Thornleigh 2120 on Monday after 9 am.



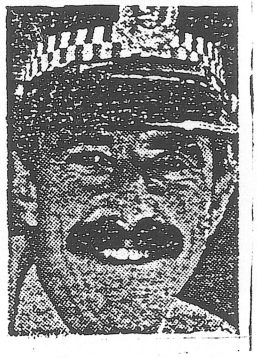
The advertisment for Pinochet Ale which appears in this maga-zine is also available as a T shirt design. In both caseas T shirts or whatever you want printed (light coloured material only) should be sent with $3:50 to cover costs and return mail

Before you start any police training program you should have a serious interest in law enforcement and be of

FINGERPRINTING
Career of the Future

Earn big money; prepare for scientific depression;

CONSTABLE CARE'S TIP ON SAFETY



SHOOT YOUR TROUBLES AWAY

If police work sounds exciting...if crime prevention, helping others and making the world a better place to live are important to you, we'll be glad to send you free information about the Police Sciences Institute. The experts on our staff have trained hundreds of men in resident police academies, and now you can get the same knowledge at home in your spare time.

HERE ARE JUST A FEW OF THE SUBJECTS YOU CAN LEARN

- Criminal Investigation
- Traffic Enforcement
- Evidence Collection
- Latent Fingerprints
- Crime Scene Search
- Auto Theft Investigation
- Sources of Information
- Narcotics Investigation
- Crime Lab Functions
- Police-Community Relations
- Criminal Law
- Hit and Run Investigation
- Enforcement Procedures
- Crime Scene Photography
- Patrol Procedures
- Missing Persons
- State Law Enforcement

"Look at the officers coming out of the Goulburn Police Academy. They are trim, taut, terrific, well trained and highly motivated. But it's sometimes SAY hello to a police officer — we are your friends.

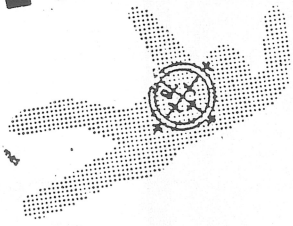
The NSW Police Force, apart from being present and keeping order, will contribute to the January 26 commemoration of a penal colony's formation by publicly displaying the latest in sartorial elegance.

There appears to be no embarrassment. The official Police Department view is that they are going to make police look "approachable", which will be consistent with the prevailing philosophy of community policing.

WHY NOT JOIN

Constable Debbie Cussans, also of Redfern Police, said: "I think it will make people identify with us more. You look more approachable than with a cap on. It sort of dresses-down the uniform a little bit."

They can now be seen stepping out of police vehicles in hats, walking the streets in them, guns and batons hanging from hips.



"The police seem to me at the moment to be trigger-happy and Bang bang!

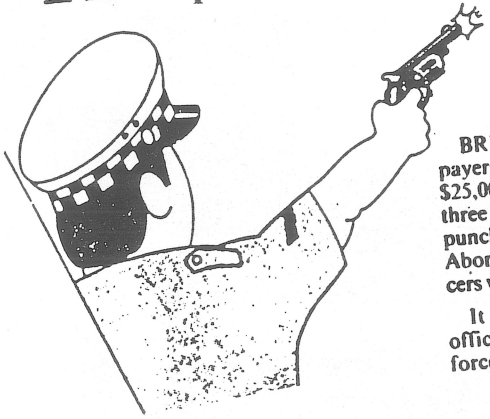
police attack

The police and their guns



BRISBANE: Queensland taxpayers may have to foot the $25,000 damages bill imposed on three police officers who kicked, punched and urinated on an Aboriginal — because the officers were working at the time.

It is understood the three officers are still in the police force.

Mr Henry was brutally bashed by the police officers at Normanton, near the Gulf of Carpentaria in northern Queensland, on August 20, 1982. He said yesterday that his bruises were so severe that he had to stay in hospital for several days.

"My eyes were the worst," he said. "I just couldn't see."

Even today, six years after the attack, Mr Henry's eyesight still suffers.

lawmen

CORRUPTION

corruption in the NSW Police Force.

During the past 200 years there has never once been a royal commission into corruption in the NSW Police Force. And it shows.

Governments too easy on police,

Police accused of Ku Klux Klan whitewash

Queensland police investigating claims of Ku Klux Klan activity in North Queensland had tried to whitewash the issue because an in-depth inquiry would have targeted the police themselves, a Queensland Labor MP, Mr Keith Wright, told Parliament yesterday.

Mr Wright said police had concentrated on reports of people wearing white gowns and participating in mountain-top rituals with burning crosses instead of investigating harassment against Aborigines.

"They know that if this investigation goes any further and into some depth, it will be the police that will be targeted, it will be the police that will have to answer," he said.

"They made a joke of it, and ridiculed everything [a witness] said," he said.

Mr Wright said there had been repeated claims, one as recent as last week, that police had set dogs onto Aborigines without reason. Medical reports supported the claims, he said.

Another allegation was that a police car had driven past an Aboriginal meeting place "with a policeman hanging out the window with his arms out, going 'rat-a-tat-tat' as if he had a machine-gun".

Riot started when police came, says hotel guest

Aboriginal people gathered in Memorial Park in the town's centre, after a funeral, had been noisy but peaceful until a police wagon drove up, Mr Craig Troth told Bourke Local Court.

Mr Troth, who lives at the Brewarrina Hotel, opposite the park, told the court that four police dressed in riot gear, with helmets, shields and batons, formed a line.

The police prosecutor, Sergeant Brian Willett, had earlier told the court that police arrived on the scene after the hotel had come under attack on the evening of August 15.

Mr Troth said that the attack on the hotel did not begin until after police arrived.

Police corruption

drug-dealing policeman

Drug crop sanctioned by police.

Gay man claims police taunted him

By ANN ARNOLD

On Sunday afternoon Lawrence Blackburn, 22, went to see a movie in Paddington, but the queue was so long that he decided to forgo the movie and head home to Erskineville. It was a decision he was to regret.

At Central Railway Station he went to the public toilets. While drying his hands, two men came up to him and, Mr Blackburn claims, said something like: "What are you doing with that belt, mate?"

The slightly-built Mr Blackburn, usually a conservative dresser, was wearing a studded black leather belt which featured a set of mock steel handcuffs.

Mr Blackburn, who works as a stack officer at the Mitchell Library, bought the belt, which "looked sort of fun", in a clothing shop in Centrepoint in the city.

He said he told the men that he was not their mate. But, he said, one of them then lifted his T-shirt to show a NSW Police badge.

"They grabbed me pretty quickly ... my arms behind my back ... and said 'You're coming with us'." Mr Blackburn alleges that, despite asking, he was not told whether he was being arrested.

He said he was "dragged fairly forcibly" from the toilets to the police station in the Eddy Avenue entrance.

There, he said, he was asked to take off his belt in front of a number of officers. When he asked why, about four or five officers, he said, forced him onto the floor.

He alleged that as he lay on his back, one officer kept a foot on his chest while another removed the belt.

Mr Blackburn said there was loud laughter and sniggering from the various officers. He said he was asked four or five times if he was "into S&M". "One of the guys was hitting the belt against his palm and laughing." Another was "jabbing the umbrella into the air, graphically suggesting sexual penetration".

He claimed he was cited an act under which he could be charged for the handcuffs and was then told to "wrap your belt in your jacket and get out of here. We don't want to see you around".

Sergeant Peters, the assistant co-ordinator of the Transport Investigation Branch, said he had the highest regard for the two arresting officers.

"We've had quite a number of complaints about certain activities in toilets, and we have given instructions to our men to go out and rid this society of these people so that the community is safe for decent people."

Mr Blackburn said he rang the police yesterday morning to make a complaint, and was put through to Sergeant Horne, the co-ordinator of the Transport Investigation Branch. He said when he told the sergeant what had happened, the sergeant had said: "What do you expect if you're hanging around public toilets?", and "Well, I don't see you've got any cause to complain. You're all right now, aren't you?"

AS the NSW Government moves quickly to get its proposed anti-corruption commission off the ground, a serious groundswell of opposition is growing within the State's police force.

More than 50 suspended police officers will be paid their salaries until cases against them are heard, the NSW Police Association Conference was told yesterday.

Proposals drawn up by the Minister for Police, Mr Pickering, to curb the Ombudsman's investigation of police misconduct are expected to go before State Cabinet today as the Opposition moves to isolate Mr Pickering on the issue.

Under the proposal, the Ombudsman would be limited to investigating allegations of serious police misconduct and would lose his present powers to investigate less serious allegations of police misconduct.

BRISBANE: A Queensland Cabinet minister has been implicated in the case of a cattle-stealing racket allegedly run by police.

Police officers to face charges

A detective inspector from the Federal Police Sydney drug squad office is to be charged with three counts of supplying and possessing drugs

CIB chief 'wanted to keep cash'

BRISBANE: A CIB chief at Mackay wanted to keep thousands of dollars he expected to confiscate in a drug raid, the Fitzgerald Inquiry was told yesterday.

The allegation is one of several made against Detective Senior Sergeant John Kolence and one of his colleagues, Detective Senior [illegible] Brian Marlin.

Senior Constable Kummerow said that on the way to a drug raid in 1986, Senior Sergeant Kolence had said: "There'll be a fair amount of money here."

Senior Constable Kummerow said: "I said 'Yes, probably in the thousands'. He said 'we'll split it two ways, you take half, I'll take half'. I said nothing ... I just shook my head."

The report says 19 people who were at the start of the riot were asked how they thought it started. All believed "unnecessary and violent police intervention triggered the riot."

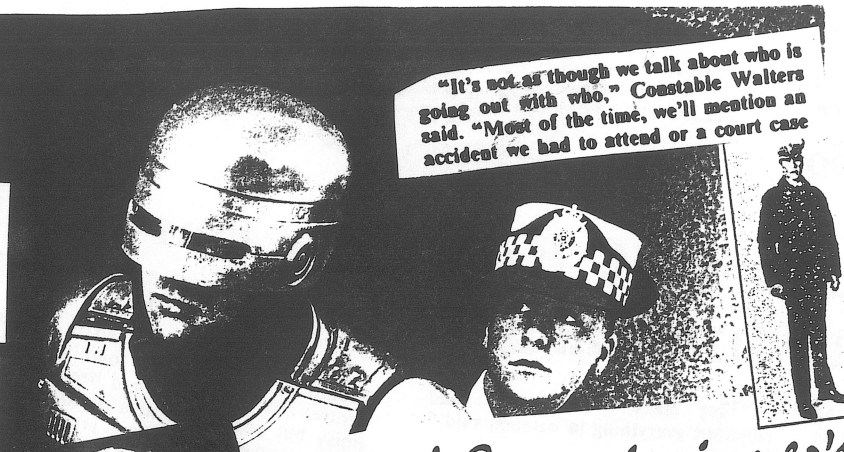
As we move toward the end of this century, operational police work is becoming a complex, challenging and often daunting task.

It is not an easy profession, and one which demands a very special type of person to achieve the results that are constantly being expected by the community. The working police member's environment is potentially a highly stressed one and, as might be expected, there are casualties.

It's among this unique breed of professional people, often wrought with stress, suspicion and frustration, that the Reverend Ed Smith circulates. While Ed is quite busy with the role of Vicar at St James Anglican Church and its surrounding parish in Ivanhoe, he has also been a police chaplain for the past 13 years.

"I understand the policing business," Ed claims. "They are a special group with special needs, and I make myself available not only for the benefit of police members but their spouses and families as well.

And what would he do if a police member confessed to an unlawful act or crime against another; an act that Ed Smith could easily put right by referring it to the relevant authorities? "That's a very difficult situation," he admits. "I definitely would not betray their trust in me.

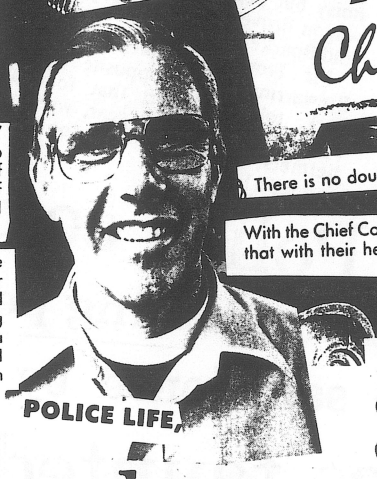


"It's not as though we talk about who is going out with who," Constable Walters said. "Most of the time, we'll mention an accident we had to attend or a court case

Chief Commissioner's Message

There is no doubt that police work is stressful. A certain amount of stress is essential to superior performance.

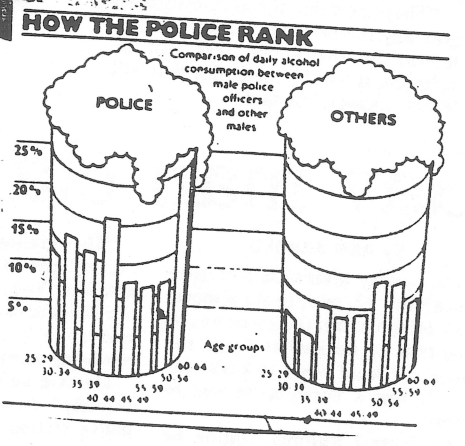
With the Chief Commissioner's Message for another month written, I can return to the company of my family knowing that with their help and support I will return to duty eager to meet the challenges ahead.



POLICE LIFE,

Police play down any drink problem

A report which showed one in three police officers are "at risk" drinkers indicated a tendency to a problem rather than an actual problem, the senior medical officer with the NSW Police Department said yesterday.



Police ran drugs:

Police killed Huckstepp

police push for power

New power for police

Why police want greater power

police 'triggered riot'

Police urge phone tapping powers

Australia's eight police commissioners want wide-reaching powers to "tap" telephones.

Controversial riot batons

YEARS OF POLICE CORRUPTION

Police on beat to try controversial baton

Some SA Police are about to get a new "item of safety equipment" — the controversial double-handled Monadnock PR-24 baton.

Earlier this week the SA Council for Civil Liberties came out strongly against the use of the batons, which they described as "potentially lethal".

Concern from civil liberties groups stems from the baton's more aggressive applications, including jabbing actions, which they see as potentially dangerous to eyes, throat and the chest area.

Victoria's long arm of the law has just gained that little bit extra in reach. Police at Richmond Police Station have been issued with long batons, and are carrying them on mobile and foot patrol duties on a trial basis. It is anticipated that other operational police will be trained in the use of long batons in the

How police are their own keepers

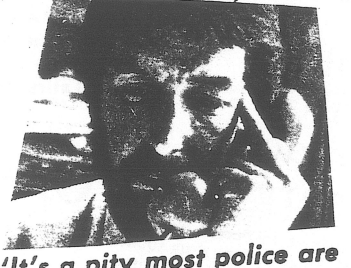
Under the current system, all investigations of complaints about police to the Ombudsman's office are carried out by the police department itself. The

According to the standard procedure, the Ombudsman's office will first assess Thompson's complaint to decide whether it warrants further investigation. If the office decides it should go further, the complaint will be sent to the police internal affairs branch for investigation.

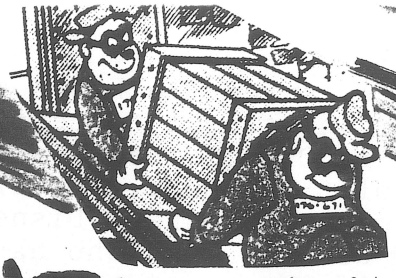
Between July 1986 and June 1987, the Ombudsman's office received 2,010 complaints against the police that have since been finalised. Of those 1,404 were not investigated at the Ombudsman's discretion. Some 549 were investigated in some way, and 57 were fully investigated.

Police reports indulge in obfuscation, triviality and propagandising.

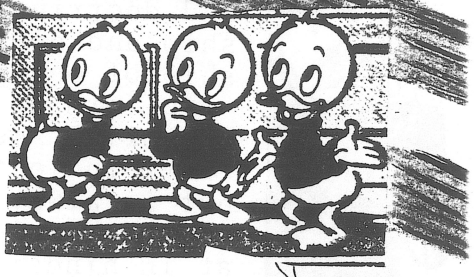
The Media Director's Office is small, cluttered and very, very busy. Only a few metres away from the Chief Commissioner's Office, it is brimming with newspapers, telexes, clippings, memos, police files, video and cassette tapes.



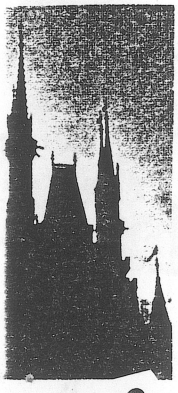
"It's a pity most police are unaware of just how often the media co-operate with us by agreeing not to publish stories."



DISNEY ON PARADE

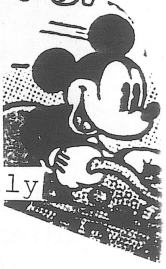


$ ¢ $ ¢ $ ¢ $ ¢ $



Last year I read a paperback concerning children's books and the underlying racism and sexism involved in many of them.Walt Disney was discussed briefly.On looking further I found some really rather strong social/political sentiments involved with the Disney way of life.

The article I read focussed it's attentiom on sex roles.The Disney view on this topic is pretty strong.If you think back to reading or seeing Disney cartoons you'll there are strings and strings of uncles,aunts,nieces,nephews,great uncles,etc, but never any mothers or fathers,or daughters and sons.Sex seems to be taboo in the fairytale American world of Disney. The children are all nephews and nieces,and the parent figures are all aunts and uncles.It's the opitome of the pseudo moralist view of sex;that it's a part of,but a part that is not openly talked about,or even referred to.What's more,the couples never live under the same roof,they each have their own houses which they return home to at night.



I started to look into more,and discovered there are so many of these types of sentiments it's incredible.Sex is a topic which is avoided,but sexism is not so carefully avoided. Each of the central characters is male(Mickey,Donald,etc)and play the important roles.Some of the characters are allotted female counterparts,who are merely secondary figures,or an offshoot the male character.This is reflected even in their names eg. Minney and Daisy are both feminisations of Mickey and Donald.Neither really demonstrate a character of their own, and none of the female characters seem to differ much,whereas there are vast differences between the male characters.All the females are given basically the same bland cliched view of the female role.The morals and role stereotyping in Disney are a clear reflection of the society it stems from(both U.S. and global),and they go much further than sex and sexism.

Their are some errors in this article (ie.words left out), so here are the corrections..

paragraph 2 line 3.....you'll remember there..... paragraph 2 line 9.....part of life,but.

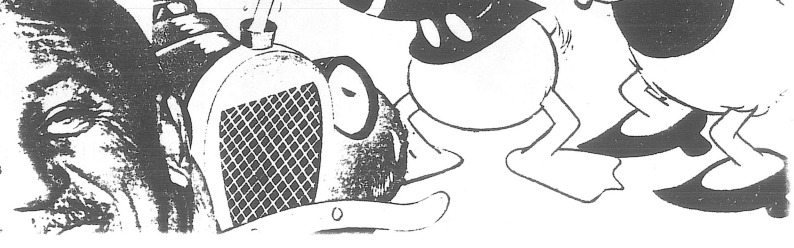
The Mickey Mouse Club

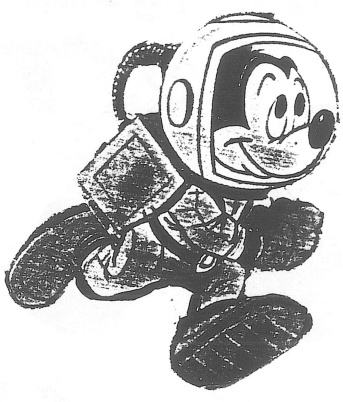
'Let's aim for the twelve-year-old. The younger ones will watch, because they'll want to see what their older brothers and sisters are looking at. And if the show is good enough, the teenagers will be interested, and adults, too.'

WALT DISNEY



The Disney way of life is very much the American way,which we are all(not just Americans)taught to believe in.All the themes and doctrines are there. One of these is the subject of leader ship and domination.Political doctrines are doctrines of leader ship,of one person dominating others.Disney supports this in the form of Mickey Mouse. Mickey (who has often been used to symbolise America itself)represents a truely American thought pattern ie.the leader is always right,may sometimes slip up, but is always seen in a favourable light,and his or her faults, which the leader may even 'nobley' admit to,are always looked at in hindsight as simple,honest mistakes(similar to the way the majority of American voters saw Ronald Reagan).The fact that Mickey is the central character is a statement in itself; that there has to be a leader or central character,and the minor characters must go by his rules(ie.Pluto) and submit to his wisdom,and that we need central figures in charge and must submit to them.

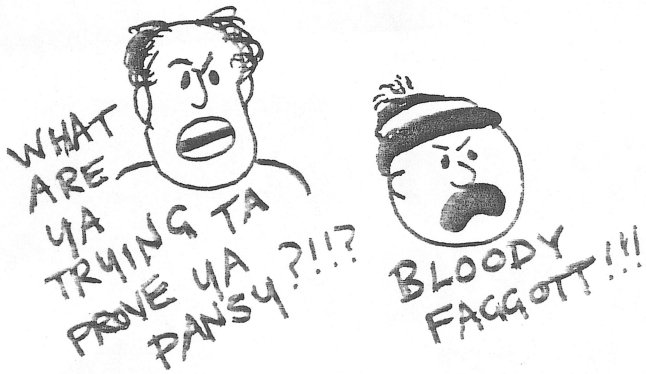
Other characters support the idea of leadership,domination,and authority.As already mentioned sexism is an evident Disney theme.The male figures thoroughly dominate their secondary female sidekicks,supporting the idea of man as the natural leader.Huey,Duey,and Luey often rebell against authority by playing little pranks on Donald,but in the long run they are usually disciplined and show a genuine remorse,and are in fear of and respect authority(Donald). Donald is a character who shows he has some leadership qualities,but doesn't really make the grade.He's never really on top,and he's far too straight forward to make a really good leader. Goofy is a character we are meant to laugh at.He is the underdog,who we know will stay the underdog.The term is used here figuratively,as we never really know if he is a dog or not.This is intended to add to his comic disposition,and we are taught to laugh at what we can't understand.We are supposed to laugh at his pathetic situation. Instead of pity,we are meant to laugh at his mistakes,to laugh at a character who can'tkeep up with the rest.



CONTINUED ON PAGE 20

THE CONTINUING ADVENTURES of OckerAlf and Digger Dave

SOON



GET A JOB YA BLUDGING SCUM
HEY YOU'RE NOT A MALE, WHITE, HETERO-SEXUAL, SPORT LOVING, BEER DRINKER BLOODY WIMP!
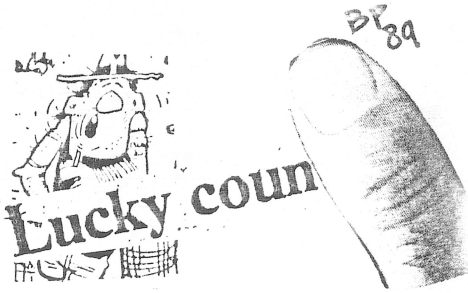
GET A HAIRCUT HIPPY!!
STINKING ASIANS BLOODY ABOS

TRUE BLUE



Our swithboard was jammed with callers after we ran our heart warming HAPPY FAMILIES pages in our last issue,so we've decided to run it as a regular feature.....

Happy Families

Mom murders little girl — by making her eat salt!

Mean mom Beth Riggs is facing 20 years behind bars for trying to cure her little girl's sweet tooth by force-feeding her a fatal dose of salt!

Mrs. Riggs, 36, "made Heather stand in the kitchen and threatened to spank her unless she swallowed spoonful after spoonful of salt," the prosecutor said.

Husband shoots wife over missed dinner!

Hungry hubby Leo Walton went stark-raving mad when his pudgy wife didn't call him to dinner — and blew her away.

Walton, 56, was convicted of shooting his wife, Esther, who staggered outside their Birmingham, Ala., home and bled to death in a neighbor's arms.

By JACK ALEXANDER

"He walked into the kitchen and found her talking on the phone to her son with a plate of food in front of her," said District Atty. Bob McGregor.

When he asked why she hadn't called him to dinner, Mrs. Walton replied that she wasn't going to fix his supper anymore, according to Walton's testimony.

"He slapped her a couple of times, knocking the phone out of her hands," said McGregor. "Then he fired a bullet into the left side of her neck."

The son said he heard his mother scream, "Are you crazy? What are you doing?" He heard a shot and then the phone went dead.

Walton admitted in court that his wife of eight years had asked him earlier if he was ready to eat, and he said "no."

"Actually, she had cooked enough food for both of them," said McGregor. "She just hadn't called him to dinner and he couldn't handle that."

A neighbor heard the shot and rushed out to see the bleeding woman stagger from the house, her husband following with a smoking pistol.

A few minutes later Walton drove to a nearby police station and told cops, "I just shot my wife."

Walton had pleaded in court that he was just trying to scare his wife with the gun. "He scared her, all right," said McGregor. "He scared her to death."

Walton was convicted of murder and will be sentenced at a later date.

Wife grinds up invalid hubby & flushes him

Killer hubby tries to mummify his dead wife!

LOVING HUSBAND DROWNS HIS WIFE IN A VAT OF BEER

By SUSAN JIMISON

Devoted husband Brian Heritage tried to sober his drunken wife up by shoving her head into a vat of homemade beer — and wound up drowning her instead!

I was just trying to sober her up, he tells court

Wife, 72, won't make love — so hubby locks her in closet 4 months

A 78-year-old hubby with a yen for some lovin' tried to seduce his wife, but the 72-year-old woman refused — so he locked her in a closet for four long months!

HOT-BLOODED oldster Salvatore Petarra went too far when his faithful wife Concetta said "no" to romance.

According to Concetta, the couple's only quarrel began in June. Salvatore, now a retired shoemaker, returned to his home after taking a walk and called his wife into their bedroom.

"I felt chills go down my spine," Concetta recalled. "I knew what my husband wanted. I closed my eyes and said, 'Salvatore you know I don't do those things. We've been married for 50 years and in a few months we're going to celebrate our golden wedding anniversary. Why argue now? We can hold hands, we can hug one another, but this craziness isn't for us.'"

Concetta stuck to her guns and Salvatore went berserk, hitting her in the head and trying to wrestle her onto the bed. When she still refused, he threw her into a closet and locked her in, telling her he'd let her out when she decided to fulfill her wifely obligations.

Little girl is raised as a Nazi!

A little girl has been taken away from her parents by authorities — because she was being raised as a Nazi!

Tiny Sylvie Pasinier, 4, was removed from her home in Rennes, France, because her parents made her give the Nazi salute when she awoke, at meaitime and when she went to bed, a court heard. The couple also allegedly gave the girl white dolls to cuddle and black ones to throw in the fire.

The girl's father, Jean Pasinier, said he taught Sylvie that the world had two types of people: "The SS, who are the good ones, and the others, who are slaves."

Bride kept in chains!

Hubby & landlady made her their slave — & forced her to eat garbage, say cops!

An Air Force sergeant and his landlady were charged with unlawful imprisonment after cops say the airman's wife trudged half a mile draped in 20 feet of heavy chain to beg for a neighbor's help!

But Anders and Mrs. Allen were each indicted on four counts of unlawful imprisonment recently after Mrs. Anders walked to a neighbor's house wrapped in 20 feet of heavy chain that was padlocked to her waist and wrists.

Mrs. Anders told deputies she had been chained to a wall in an unheated shed behind the Allens' mobile home and occasionally had to rummage through trash bins to find food.

Goldman said investigators first became involved in the case last spring when Mrs. Anders showed a neighbor a list of "house rules" she had been ordered to abide by.

"These so-called house rules told her how often she could bathe, how to dress, what she could wear to bed and how often she could have sex with her husband," Lt. Goldman said.

Do you secretly hate your mate?

Deep down in your heart, do you secretly hate your mate?

Quiz reveals your startling inner feelings

Bigamist groom enjoys his wedding — till his real wife shows up!

A romantic man's marriage to his curvy 18-year-old sweetheart didn't last very long — because his other wife showed up and charged him with bigamy!

Jealous hubby murders the wrong man

He chopped off his innocent brother's head — but his wife was cheating with someone else!

Vengeful Ramadan Finoon killed his brother and chopped his head off for sleeping with his wife — and then found out the poor man was innocent.

Instead, the wife's lover turned out to be Eid El-Kadim, the man Finoon enlisted to help him in his murderous scheme.

The gruesome case of mistaken revenge began when Abdel, Finoon's 39-year-old brother, caught the lovely 25-year-old Sayeda, Finoon's wife, locked in a passionate embrace with El-Kadim.

Like any good brother, Abdel exploded in rage at the couple and warned Sayeda never to see her loverboy again. She agreed on the condition that Abdel not tell his brother. But the deceitful wife told Finoon that his brother Abdel was making advances toward her.

Finoon confronted his brother. Abdel denied it; but this only convinced Finoon that Abdel was lying.

Finoon hatched a murderous plan to do away with his brother. When Finoon asked El-Kadim to help him, the friend was all too ready.

Together the men jumped poor Abdel in a remote field. They beat him unconscious and then Finoon, boiling over with hate, strangled his brother. Still furious, he chopped off his head with an ax. The men buried the head in the field and tossed the corpse in an irrigation ditch.

HUBBY TURNS WIFE INTO EGYPTIAN MUMMY

Son was shot for turning off pop's TV wrestling, say cops

A diehard wrestling fan wanted to watch his favorite sport on television, but his son wanted to sleep and repeatedly turned the TV set off.

While other family members looked on in horror, the frantic father blew away his son with a single blast from a 12-gauge shotgun. Cops in New Angry dad shoots his daughter — because she wore a miniskirt!

An angry father shot his 15-year-old daughter with a .45 automatic because she wore a miniskirt without his permission!

"I shot my daughter once and I would shoot her again," 48-year-old Bernardo Manzella told reporters in Turin, Italy.

I told her she was too young to prance around like that . . . she didn't listen and paid the price

"I can't blame Daddy for shooting me because I did defy him," she said. "I'm just sorry I didn't listen.

"He knows much more about these things than I do.

"We already apologized to each other and I told him I won't wear a short skirt again.

"Besides, I really don't have the legs for a miniskirt."

Snap!

FOUR seamen appeared before a Buenos Aires court after fighting over the same woman. Each carried an autographed photo of her.

When the magistrate saw the picture he burst into tears and rushed out. It was his wife.

Man killed wife in front of television, court told

Frankenstein horror as DOCTOR STUFFS WIFE IN FREEZER FOR 4 YEARS

AN 82-year-old man stuffed a handkerchief into his wife's mouth and held her nose until she died in front of a television, a court heard yesterday.

"We made the right decision to invest in Chile,
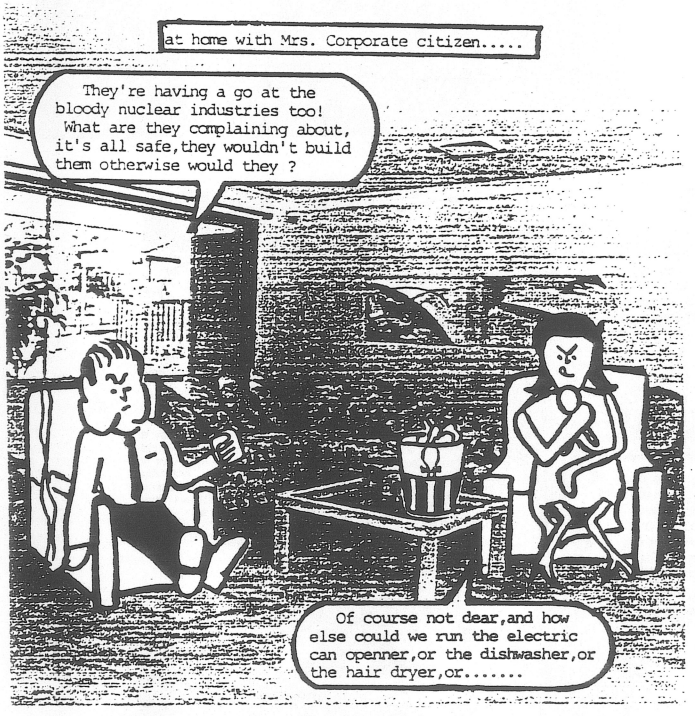
for the right reasons"

a few days in the lives of Mr + Mrs CORPORATE CITIZEN

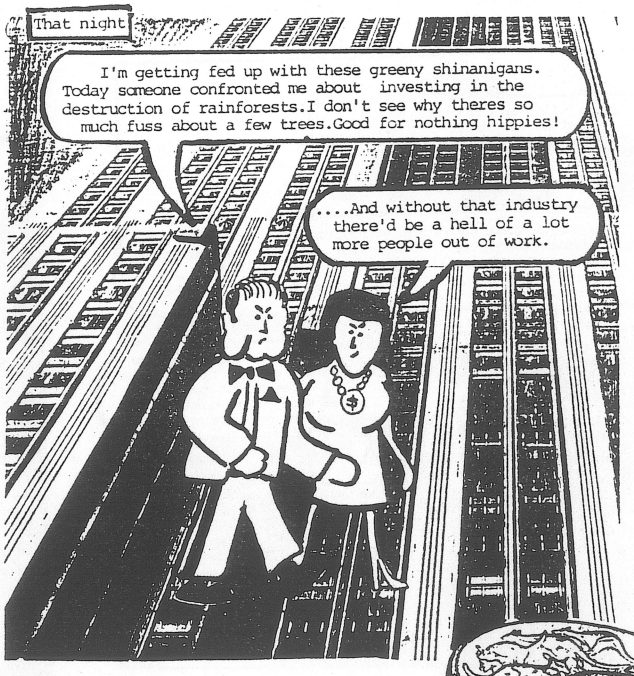
BP89

One fine morning in the viewing area of the Sydney Stock Exchange, sometime in the mid/late 1980's.....

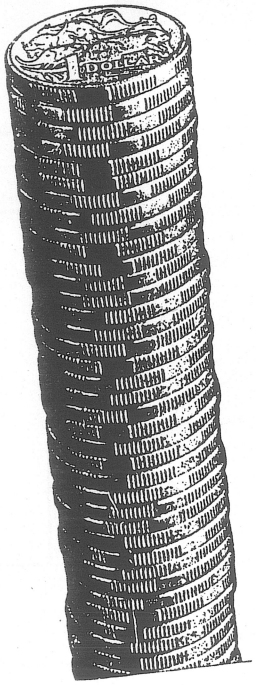
More bloody environmentalists making noises today.
Honestly, they're a bunch of ratbags. Why don't they go out and get a job, instead of complaining about those of us who are keeping this great nation of ours thriving with industrial growth.
Too true my man. It seems they're complaining about absolutely everything!
MORE PROTEST ARRESTS

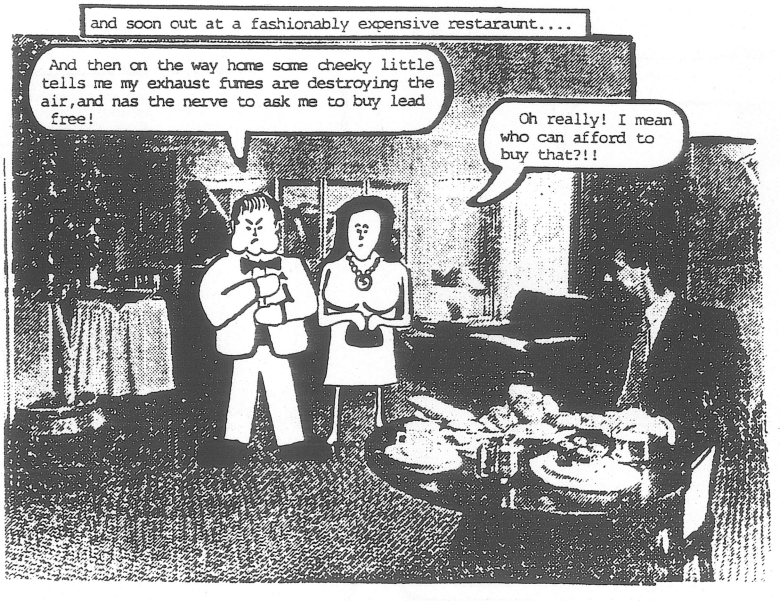


at home with Mrs. Corporate citizen.....
They're having a go at the bloody nuclear industries too! What are they complaining about, it's all safe, they wouldn't build them otherwise would they ?
Of course not dear, and how else could we run the electric can opener, or the dishwasher, or the hair dryer, or.....

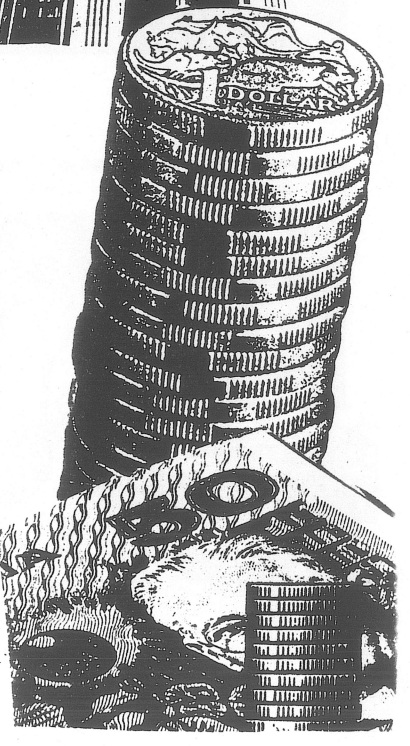


That night
I'm getting fed up with these greeny shinanigans. Today someone confronted me about investing in the destruction of rainforests. I don't see why theres so much fuss about a few trees. Good for nothing hippies!
....And without that industry there'd be a hell of a lot more people out of work.

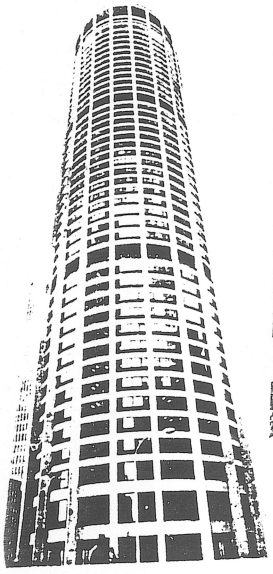




and soon out at a fashionably expensive restaraunt....
And then on the way home some cheeky little tells me my exhaust fumes are destroying the air, and nas the nerve to ask me to buy lead free!
Oh really! I mean who can afford to buy that?!!



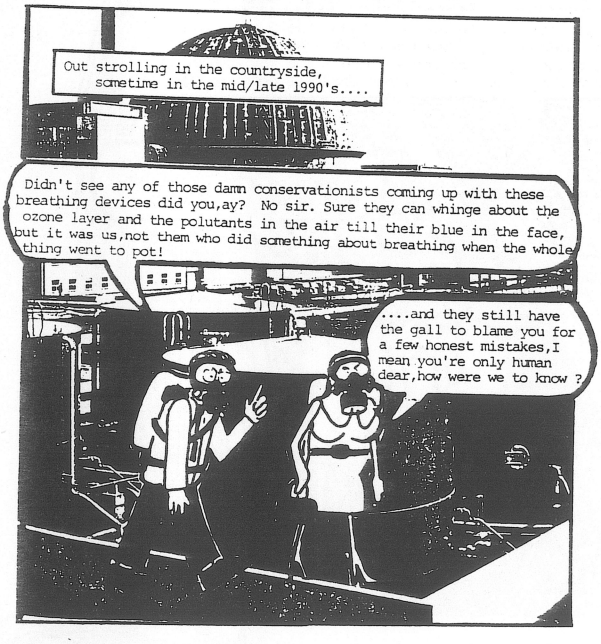
SOON....



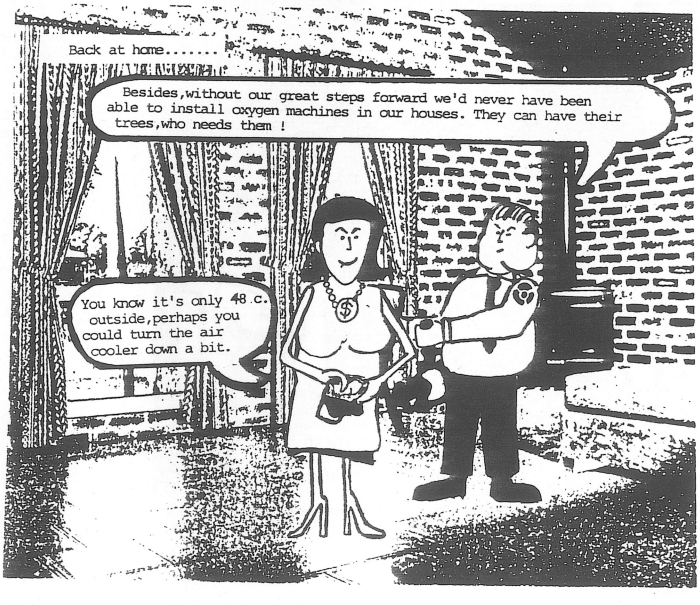
.... And now they're trying to tell me my aerosol deodorent is destroying the blasted ozone layer. Damn it,what does it matter anyway ?
..And how else am I supposed to keep my kitchen fresh...
..Or fix my hair ?!?

and so it continued...

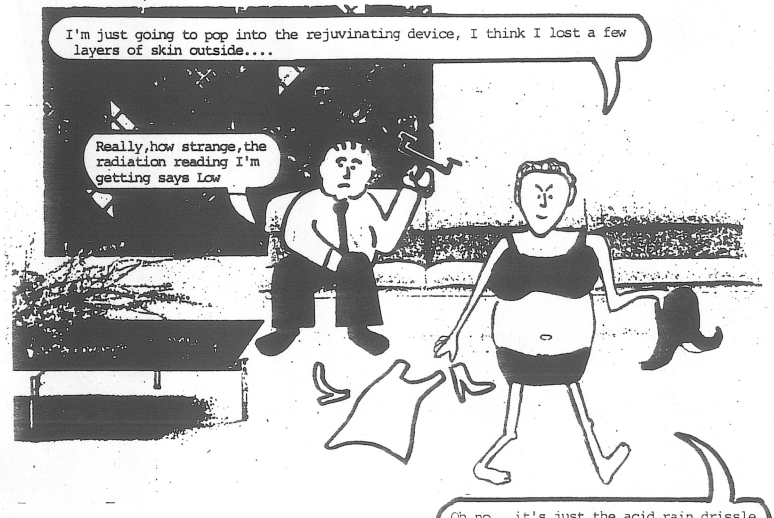
and continued...
Our industries are a vital source of growth, with out them we could never maintain our high standard of living !!!
ZZZZ



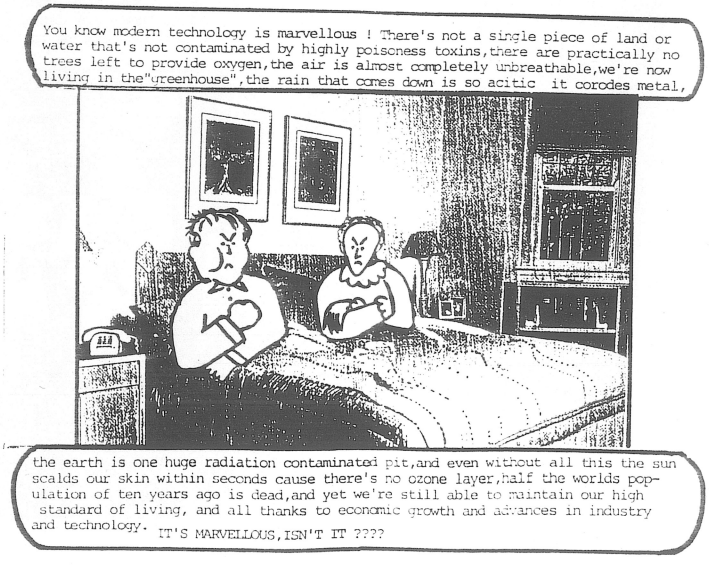
Out strolling in the countryside, sometime in the mid/late 1990's....
Didn't see any of those damn conservationists coming up with these breathing devices did you,ay? No sir. Sure they can whinge about the ozone layer and the polutants in the air till their blue in the face, but it was us,not them who did something about breathing when the whole thing went to pot!
....and they still have the gall to blame you for a few honest mistakes,I mean you're only human dear,how were we to know ?



Back at home.....
Besides,without our great steps forward we'd never have been able to install oxygen machines in our houses. They can have their trees,who needs them !
You know it's only 48 c. outside,perhaps you could turn the air cooler down a bit.



I'm just going to pop into the rejuvinating device, I think I lost a few layers of skin outside....
Really,how strange,the radiation reading I'm getting says Low
Oh no , it's just the acid rain drissle, nothing to worry about dear....



You know modern technology is marvellous ! There's not a single piece of land or water that's not contaminated by highly poisoness toxins,there are practically no trees left to provide oxygen,the air is almost completely unbreathable,we're now living in the"greenhouse",the rain that comes down is so acitic it corodes metal, the earth is one huge radiation contaminated pit,and even without all this the sun scalds our skin within seconds cause there's no ozone layer,half the worlds population of ten years ago is dead,and yet we're still able to maintain our high standard of living, and all thanks to economic growth and advances in industry and technology. IT'S MARVELLOUS,ISN'T IT ????

Two three four
(Na na na na na na na na na)
(Na na na na na na na na na)
(Na na na na na na na na na)

Great lyrics, a true classic! Now, here's all the latest from the business world
sorry, am, the way out world of pop music and simply outrageous pop stars.....

Tour name: Mick Jagger Live — Australia '88.
Expected gross earnings: $8 million-$9 million.

Pepsi paid an estimated $250,000 fee — top money for local sponsorships — to another local singer, Jimmy Barnes. An extra $500,000 has been earmarked for promotions around an album and tour both titled Barnestorming. A

EXTRA PROFITS IN VINYL

Coca-Cola is spending nearly $1 million this summer on marketing Glenn Wheatley-managed singer John Farnham. He is currently in a 60-second TV commercial for Coke, and the soft drink maker is also bankrolling his November tour after a similar sponsorship last year.

The soft drink war continues. Pepsi has already got the likes of Michael Jackson, Jimmy Barnes and Whitney Houston on their side so Diet Coke has just enlisted George Michael for their next bout of ads.

ties. Madonna is launching her line of perfume called logically, Madonna, while Bros are going the whole hog and have launched a whole range of, what else, professional hair care products, including Bros Styling Cream, Bros Conditioner and Bros Shampoo. Less ostentatious, Yazz are endorsing alphabet soup, while Brother Beyond are pushing breakfast cereal!

Having been castigated for using the controversial Madonna and clip to sell Pepsi, who have, in the US, removed the ad from TV, because of Fundamentalist pressure, [illegible] now being

Coke promoter John Farnham

MR AUSTRALIAN OF THE YEAR of 1988

CAREER

CAREER

CAREER

HOW TO PROFIT

Deep in North Queensland TV HITS snapped the nation's biggest pop star signing his life away.

Bowie has written a song tailored to Minogue's unique vocal style.

Old Ziggy hasn't had a hit lately but Kylie's had plenty.

Could this be why Bowie is so keen to record with the young Minogue?

It was business as usual when an eager fan offered his copy of John's "Age Of Reason" album to sign . . .

It was business as usual like a true professional, John signed away happily . . .

launched his solo career, releasing his first album "Off The Wall" which spawned hits like "Don't Stop 'Til You Get Enough". It sold millions of copies but nowhere near as many as his next album, "Thriller", which sold over 40 million copies, making Mr Jackson quite a rich young man and gaining him entry to The Guiness Book Of Records for the biggest selling record of all time. His last album "Bad" further swelled his bank balance, so much so that he now has more money than he knows what to do with.

'I must protect my biggest assets,' pouts pop singer

Sexpot pop singer Sabrina is so certain that her chesty curves are responsible for her success — that she's had her breasts insured for $150,000 each!

PROUD TO BE A PUPPET

Sabrina's eye-popping chest has already involved her in a lawsuit with a former singer in her group, Angela Cavagno. Angela reportedly had the audacity to accuse Sabrina of being a chesty phony by buying bras two sizes too big and stuffing them with cotton.

Angela also claimed that Sabrina's breasts were enhanced by secret silicone injections.

Sabrina was outraged by the accusations and now the two are tussling in court.

The sultry singer has vowed to bare her breasts in court if she has to in order to prove her points.

"It will all come out in court," said Sabrina.

CAREER

THE INXS RACING CAR

and it was he who decided to take INXS to America at a time many thought was too early in their career. It proved to be a brilliant move.

their career.

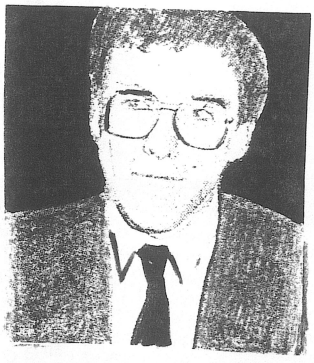
CAREER

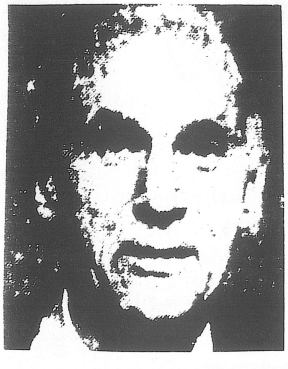
sales are soaring

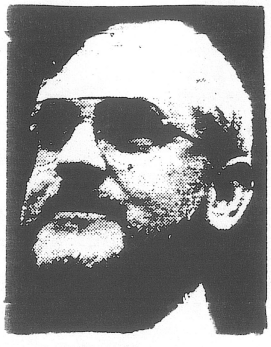
Rocker Bruce Springsteen had his voice insured for $3.5 million with Lloyd's of London.

at the Royal Variety Show Kylie was introduced to her number one fan . . . the Queen Mum!

If crime doesn't pay







PASTE THE WELL DRESSED CRIMINAL OF YOUR CHOICE IN THIS BOX

these people must have night jobs

Just when you thought Sub Standard had lost all'street credibility', here's another interview with a real live singer from a band. This one is with Dean,the man with the voice with....

SUSPECTED HIPPIES IN TRANSIT

M.Who are you? D.I'm Dean.....from Suspected Hippies In Transit.

M.Will I call you S.H.I.T. for short? D.Yep!

M.So do you fall into any "isms"?

D.What sort of band are we? Politically I'd say we're pretty much greenies.

M.So the shit manifesto would be a green one?

D.Yeh.Plus a lot of other things.The death penalty is something I feel very strongly(against).John and I are Vegan... ....I'm not too happy about Dance Parties and things like that.

M.Would you do a Dance Party?

D.Yeh,a Dance Party that revolved around issues,rather than just cop out.

M.Personally I find the whole "music business" revolting...

D.Yeh,well the industry's always been a problem....it's very easy to get roped into it.

t's a capitalist society.

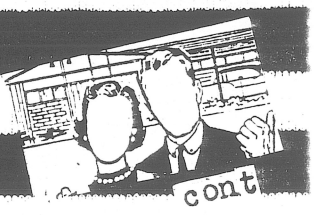
M.How as a band,or as individuals,would you try to avoid getting sucked in by it?

D.As an individual I never let money upset me that much.If it's there it's there,if it's not,it's not.If you want to play and do gigs you've got to become, to some extent,part of the industry... ....and try to use it for good means,such as doing benefits and things like that.

A VERY SUSPECT LOOKING CHARACTER

M.So you wouldn't take a hard line and say, for example,not play in pubs?

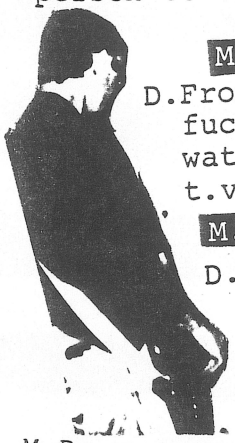
D.Oh no, I'm quite happy to play in pubs.. ...although encouraging people to use alcohol worries me a bit, but still,that's their own life,their own trip I suppose.



cont

M.Yeh,obviously there's a lot of apathy involved in that social scene of getting drunk,and often if bands are saying something it's not heard,or it's forgotten

D.With the pub situation it's really bloody hard to get any type of message across.Back in the days of Itchy Rat (I.R.is a band Dean and to others from S.H.I.T.were in previously) I decided it was a pretty pointless exercise trying to "preach" to people in that type of atmosphere.Quite often I think"Am I a good enough person to be doing that type of preaching anyway?"

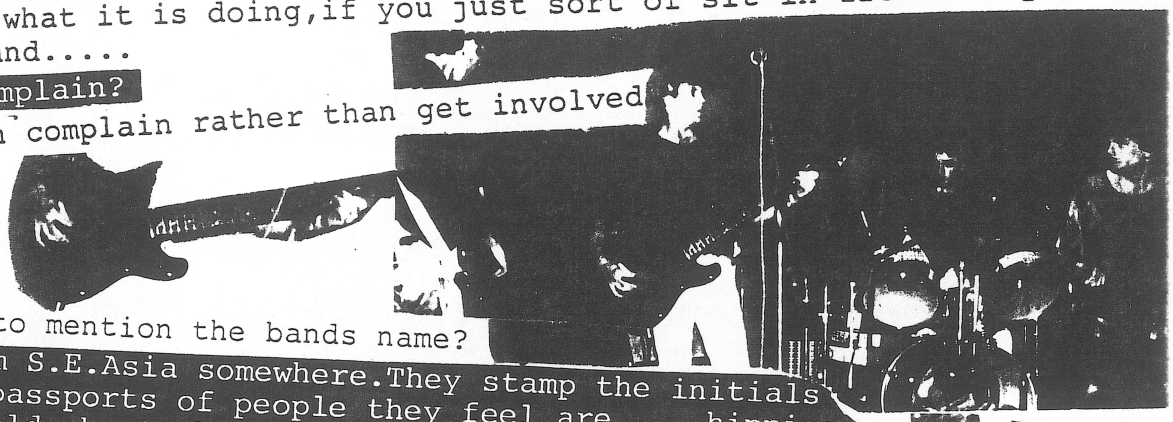


M.So what have you learnt from...lets call it punk?

D.From the punk experience....ammmm..a hell of a lot! How drugs fuck you around , How hatred can eat your own soul if you don't watch what it is doing,if you just sort of sit in front of your t.v. and.....

M.Complain?

D.Yeh complain rather than get involved



M.Do you want to mention the bands name?

D.It comes from S.E.Asia somewhere.They stamp the initials S.H.I.T. on passports of people they feel are ....hippies. When I was told about that I thought it would be a great name for a band.

M.You're lending yourself to a lot of possible ,amm ,dwelling on the name...

D.Yeh that's very true,the name has the potential to limit us, but in a way I'm happy with that. I don't like adopting names like sundogs or stolen bicycles....some innocuous name that the industry can grab. We wre almost going to call ourselves 'Innocuous Band Names'

M.Talking about innocuous things,I noticed CountDown's back on the t.v.

D.Yeh,they're prime exponents...

M.Notice they're calling it the Countdown "Revolution"?!??

D.Yeh,interesting isn't it? I suppose the only concept they've got of revolution is a record that goes round and round...

M.So does the name reflect the bands interest in 'green issues'?

D.Yeh,I think so.It was a reference to our concerns.Hippies are generally associated with being into green issues.

M.So what are your immediate plans?

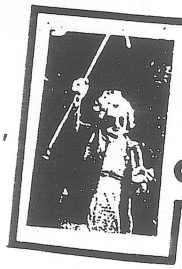
D.Quite a lot...a demo tape...start gigging....

M.So you haven't signed to K-Tel yet?

D.(laughing) No...not yet.....

The Sub Standard Committee has decided not to waste any time waiting for this band to become famous,so we've already got our'People Magazine/Weekly world News/Truth' type headlines prepared to avoid the rush. Remember,you saw it all here first, in Sub Standard.....

HOUSE WIFE CLAIMS:
'DEAN HIPPY A KINKY LOVER'



Suspected hippy's father of my love child, claims actress astonishing revelations... ROCK STARS S.H.I.T.

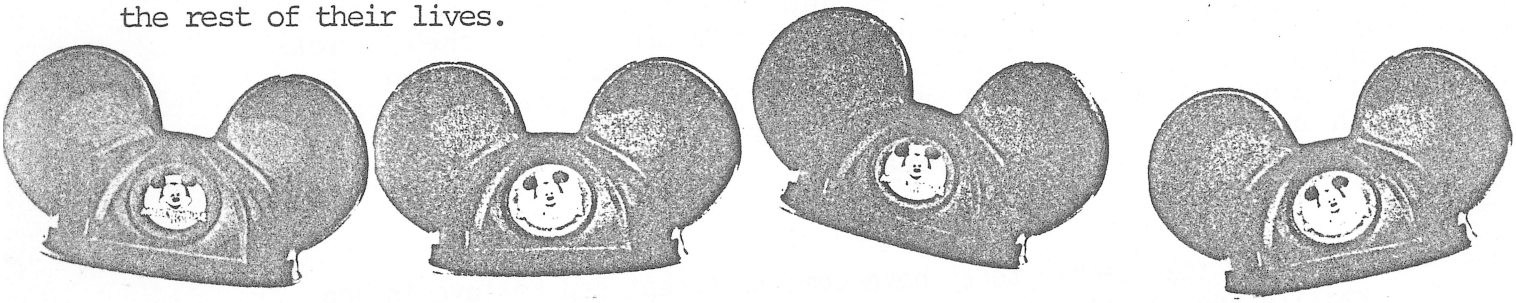
ARE THEY ALIEN SPIES ?

Perhaps all this is emphasising these points too much,but the fact is they are there,and they're there in a situation designed for young children.They are not themes which are included as part of a story line directly,they are underlying themes,beneath the fun and laughter,beneath the falsity that is Disney.They are themes which are absorbed subconsciously,and evidently must must to some extent be absorbed by many.They are themes which are all around us in the 'real' world -sexism,power,domination,competition,false morals, double standards,etc,etc.It is doubtfull that they are all deliberate attempts to enforce some sort of doctrine,though some of them obviously are deliberate 'moral' statements,however it's an overall acceptance of this as all being the normal and correct way of life.They are themes which have been generally accepted and are being included as part of a fun set of stories for children, who are in the midst of forming ideas which will probably stay with them for the rest of their lives.



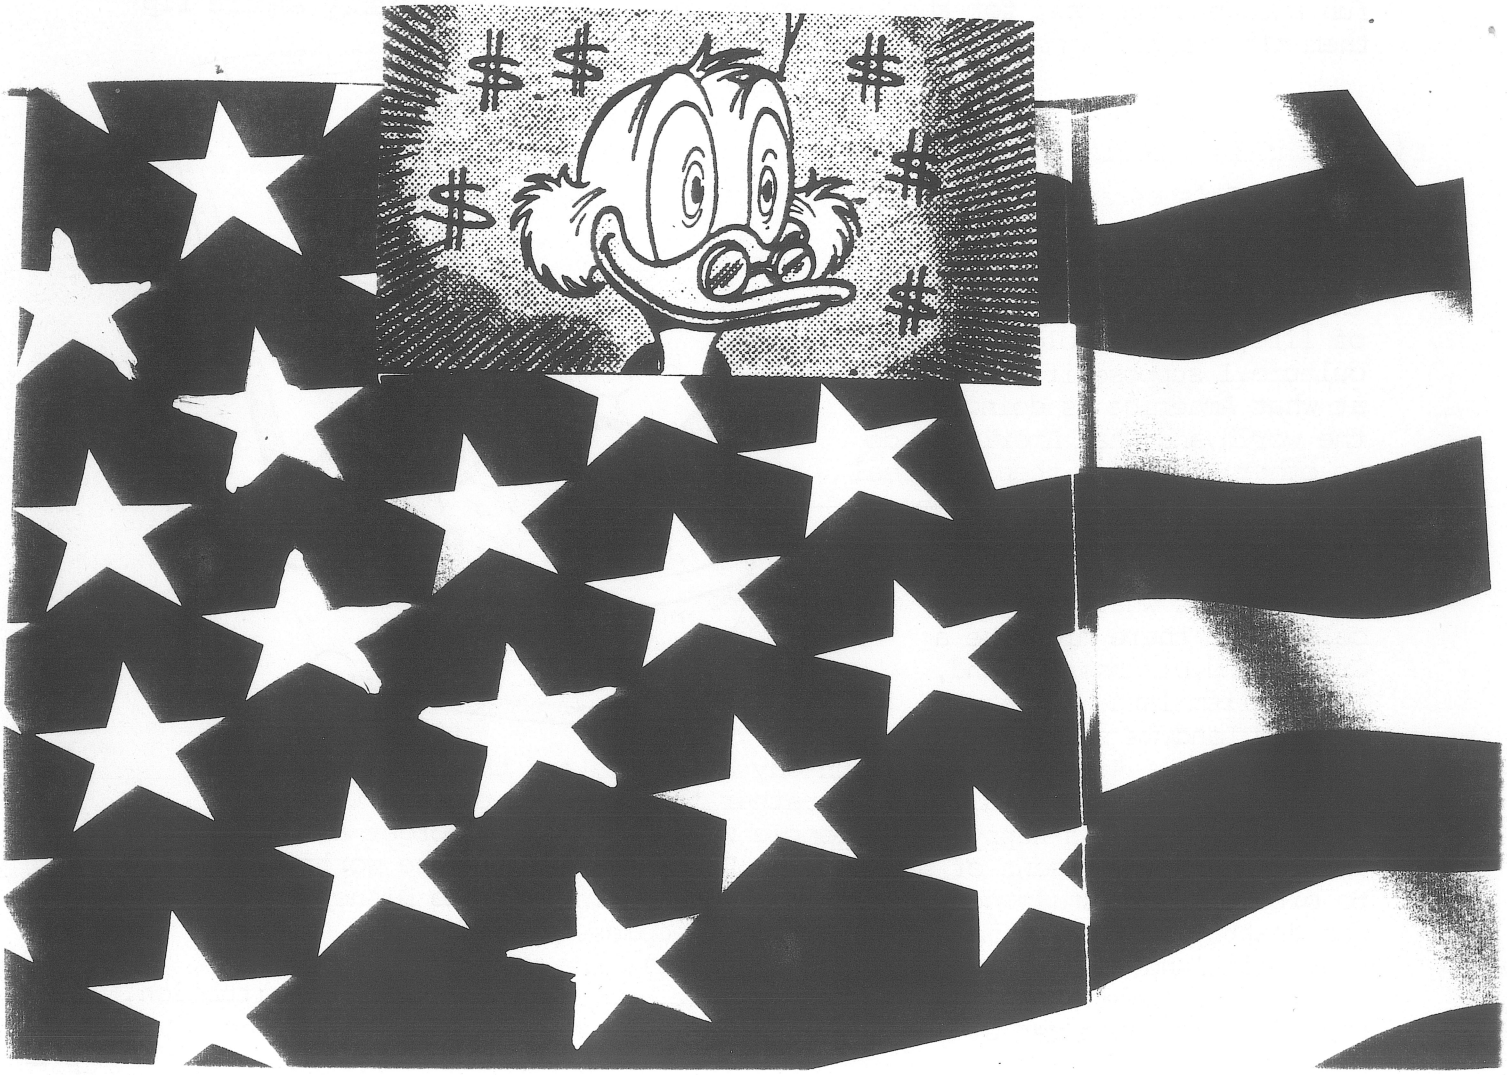
DisneyLand is an extension of the cartoons,an extension of the marketing of the Disney world,it is 'Disney' in practice.It's the ultimate realisation of the theory of making money-once youre on a good thing,once you've discovered you can make a bit of money out of it,exploit it to the full and senselessly accumulate as much wealth as possible, all the time fooling your customers into believing that you're doing them a favour. Millions and millions of people pay through the nose each day for the privilage of having fun,or being told they're having fun.The Disney company is held up as some sort of fond old grandfather figure,and Disney Land a magical fairytale world providing fun and entertainment for the kids,while the heads of the Disney empire rip them off for billions of dollars every week.

DisneyLand is a belief in a false way of life.It's escapism on a grand scale.It's lies and falsity being sold as fun.People hail the Disney thing as part of the American way of life,the grand old apple pie culture.I suppose if you look at what Amaerica is doing to the world,and what Americans do to other Americans,then the real Disney thing(the real version, not theirs) the Disney way of life is the American way! If truth was what was being celebrated there might be a Crime Land,Dishonesty Land, Imperialism land,Wealth vs Poverty Land,we shit on you Land,etc,etc. At the end of a fun day at DisneyLand the visitors return home to the real world-a mess.But rather than working to make the real world a fun place,a happy place,people would prefer to forget about it, and look for some means of escape like Disney land,while the world falls to bits around them(largely due to big multinationals like Disney company who destroy the environment and destroy peoples lives in order to sell there lies and make themselves a huge profit). The fact that Disney is still looked upon as all in fun sums up the hypocrisy of the whole situation, the escapism,the cover up and the falsity.

Uncle Scrooge is a character who is probably closer to the Disney enigma than any of the others.He is a miser,a horder of money,it his main interest and his reason for existence.He is the proto-type capitalist.Yet even with his obvious immorality,he is dealt with as a humerous character,a basically harmless old duck whose one single fault is an over anxious love of money,and often this is not seen as a fault at all.We are shown that in the 'noble' pursuit of wealth one can take things a little far,but even in doing so it's all really just harmless fun.

One mor thing that struck me is the way people react to these cartoon figures.Each is a figure of fun,a dog,a mouse,a duck, etc,and each is seen as likeable and fun.Every year in America 90 million dogs,mice and other animals are subjected to delib-erately painfull experiments and put to death in laboritories. Ducks are devoured at the dinner table,mice have their backs snapped in traps,etc ,etc.In reality animals are seen as a nuisance ,or just another expendible commodity,and treated with barbaric cruelty.Yet when these animals are in a cartoon, they're acceptable,even lovable.

It seems that people today have come to accept and believe in non reality,and reality is something that's irrelevant,something to ignore. The way of today is to ignore the truth and look for a means of escape. The Disney world is a prime example of our world today,the brave new world of brainwashing and lies,double standards and deception,pseudo-moralising and escapism on a grand scale.Ignorance not only igored but accepted,lies celbrated,and the whole farse being held up as humerous, harmless fun.



Welcome to the second sub standard Fashion Feature.

First up, here's a run down on what's hip to say while waiting in line at the fashionable nightclub of your choice, featuring Slumming Suzi and Eddy Ecstacy. And remember always ensure people around you can hear what you're saying, cause the more people know how hip you are, the greater your chance of making the scene....

KAK

WASNT THE DANCE PARTY GREAT LAST WEEKEND - I GOT SO DRUNK

OH YES, SO DID I, AND I TOOK HEAPS OF ECSTACY

SO DID I..... BUT I'M TRYING TO GIVE IT UP

IVE BEEN TAKING TOO MANY DRUGS LATELY

YES SO HAVE I. HAVE YOU SEEN JOHN'S BAND LATELY. I KNOW HIM REALLY WELL YOU KNOW

SO DO I ARE YOU STILL LIVING IN THE INNER CITY LIKE ME?

YES - IM LIVING WITH A WHOLE BUNCH OF PEOPLE. AND WE JUST PARTY ALL THE TIME

SO DO WE I WENT TRIPPING LAST NIGHT I KNOW SOMEONE WHO'S SELLING THEM

SO DO I. THIS GUY I KNOW CAN GET ANY DRUG YOU WANT

Of course not everyone can make it into the night club scene, but there are plenty of other scenes out there, and with a bit of effort, and the right clothes, you can slip comfortably into the

THE TEENAGE SUB-CULTURE

which best suits you.....

it INSTANTLY distinguishes the sort of person you are and the sort of influences that you follow.

PTO

Here's a bit of information to help you when shopping for clothes and to help you adopt to your chosen scene's code of behavior.....

READY TO WEAR STYLES

"Well there's the Cassies. The boys have bouffy hair, wear shoulder pads and designer clothes. They also pump iron, Dominic defined Rude Boys as "Skins, but with a lot more class". On Saturday nights both groups congregate at the Teachers' Club in the city.

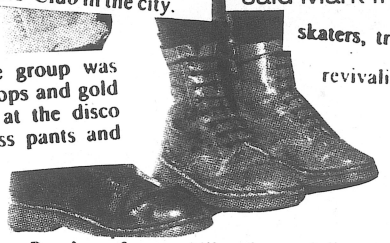
Casual dress for the group was marble wash jeans, hi-tops and gold jewellery, but a night at the disco demanded a shirt, dress pants and pointed shoes.



there are also skaters, trendy hippies, gothics, 70s revivalists and bombers.

Cassies beat up "inner-city types" who venture into their discos.

Bombers favour Nike shoes, Adidas, jackets, Kangol hats and gold jewellery. Expensive stuff. So how

The Bombers reckon they rule the streets of Redfern and Waterloo

Bombers like hard-core hip hop music, def-jams (rap nights at clubs), and "poofta bashing". "We wait for fags to go into a toilet and beat them up," said Keen, 15, "because they set a bad example for the kids."

RAP CULTURE

Fights between Skins and Bombers are a regular event on the Town Hall steps.

A lot of people are wearing DM's at the moment and more are beginning to wear them at school but really Brogues are beginning to be more in than DM's but it's all the same really. Why I think they're in fashion is partly because they're English and boys especially would wear them because they have that hard and street image about them," said Mark from Shore.

Do you want to write or meet fellow punks? In

I'M AN up and coming punk from Brist like Sex Pistols, Clash, Exploited, Damr and many more. I want to hear from mal

Phil, 15, butts in and says Skaters do a bit of bombing "to mark our territory, you know, like dogs pissing on a tree".

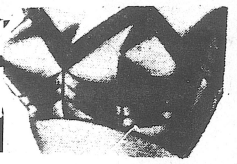
organise your clothes

punk life Skins

If you still find it hard to make it big on the social scene perhaps there are other problems involved.....

WHITEN TEETH INSTANTLY!

SMALL BUST?



NO PADS! NO ARTIFICIAL BUST BUILDUP NEEDED

Profile View of Hidden Feature Inside Bra

Special Design "Up-And-Out" Bra Gives You A Fuller, Alluring Bustline Instantly

Are You As Completely Equipped As Your Car?

Puts power in your sex appeal as it reshapes you to more manly "tapered" proportions!

- SMOOTHES TORSO
- BUILDS CHEST
- STRAIGHTENS BACK
- SLIMS ABDOMEN
- CINCHES WAIST
- FLATTENS BULGES

SLIM INCHES AWAY IN THE AMAZING NEW BODY TAPER-TRIM SHIRT

A NEW SHAPE IN 30 DAYS or pay nothing!

BE TALLER Instantly!

BODY REPAIR

Uplift Your SOCIAL LIFE! WITH INVISIBLE "LIFTEE" HEIGHT PADS

Tired of being called shorty? Slip these invisible HEIGHT INCREASE PADS in any pair of shoes. Now step into them and add additional height. THE SAME HEIGHT INCREASE AS EXPENSIVE HEIGHT INCREASING SHOES, for a fraction of the cost to give you new poise and self confidence—a key to success and romance. No one will suspect that you are wearing them. These LIGHTWEIGHT FOAM RUBBER AND CUSHION CORK PADS fit securely without gluing and interchangeable in any shoes. Constructed and designed for walking comfort; aids posture. Worn by thousands of men and women. Durable and shock absorbing. State shoe size.

WOMEN! EVERYTHING WE SAY HERE APPLIES TO YOU!

SKINNY WOMEN ARE NOT ATTRACTIVE

. . . a skinny, scrawny body is no asset in social or business life. Give the GAIN Plan a chance to help build you up and put firm flesh on you.

COMPARE: It's stronger! It's 50% thicker! It's reversible! Don't be fooled by look-alikes that deliver less. SHRINK-WRAP—the real thing!

You Can Lose 2-3" TODAY! 4-6" THIS WEEK!

MELT AWAY INCHES!

Now, Even If You Have Been Thin For Years, You Can have a more manly, glamorous body without dangerous drugs, without exercise, without unpleasant tasting medicines.

Now you're ready to party,party,party!!!!!!!